The Holy Gospel according to Matthew, the 25th Chapter. Glory to you, O Lord!

[Jesus said to the disciples:] "For it is as if a man, going on a journey, summoned his slaves and entrusted his property to them; to one he gave five talents, to another two, to another one, to each according to his ability. Then he went away. At once the one who had received the five talents went off and traded with them and made five more talents. In the same way, the one who had the two talents made two more talents. But the one who had received the one talent went off and dug a hole in the ground and hid his master's money. After a long time the master of those slaves came and settled accounts with them. Then the one who had received the five talents came forward, bringing five more talents, saying, 'Master, you handed over to me five talents; see, I have made five more talents.' His master said to him, 'Well done, good and trustworthy slave; you have been trustworthy in a few things; I will put you in charge of many things; enter into the joy of your master.' And the one with the two talents also came forward, saying, 'Master, you handed over to me two talents; see, I have made two more talents.' His master said to him, 'Well done, good and trustworthy slave; you have been trustworthy in a few things; I will put you in charge of many things; enter into the joy of your master.' Then the one who had received the one talent also came forward, saying, 'Master, I knew that you were a harsh man, reaping where you did not sow and gathering where you did not scatter, so I was afraid, and I went and hid your talent in the ground. Here you have what is yours.' But his master replied, 'You wicked and lazy slave! You knew, did you, that I reap where I did not sow and gather where I did not scatter? Then you ought to have invested my money with the bankers, and on my return I would have received what was my own with interest. So take the talent from him, and give it to the one with the ten talents. For to all those who have, more will be given, and they will have an abundance, but from those who have nothing, even what they have will be taken away. As for this worthless slave, throw him into the outer darkness, where there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.' "

The Gospel of our Lord. Praise to you, O Christ!

WEEKLY DEVOTIONS

Monday - Prayer of the Day
The prayer of the day, composed for Evangelical Lutheran Worship, prays for wisdom and the ability to serve God and others with generosity and joy.

Tuesday - Connections with the Liturgy
Paul's description of us as "children of light" is found in the rite of Holy Baptism: a candle, lighted from the paschal candle of Easter, is presented to the newly baptized. Jesus, the light of life, gives light to the baptized, and we are to live so that others may see us shining with Christ.

Wednesday - Especially for Children
There is social pressure for school children to act like everyone else and thus to play down their individual abilities, unless the skill is in the field of sports. Ask the children what their talents are—for example, being kind, making music, drawing pictures, gardening—and give examples of how children's talents can be used for God's purposes, long before the children have grown into adults.

Thursday - Life on the Earth
As scientists warn of the ways that the lands and the seas may react to global climate change, the apocalyptic poetry of the prophets gains our renewed appreciation. The future may indeed bring "ruin and devastation" to the earth as we now know it. We pray for wisdom to care for the earth, and we beg God, in spite of our errors, to continue to create days in which plants, animals, and humankind can thrive.

Friday - Reflection on the Gospel Reading
The English word "talent" meaning a person's natural ability arose in the fifteenth century as preachers allegorized this parable, applying the Roman coins to individual capabilities. A common use of this parable is to stress what Lutherans call "law": we are obligated to use our talents to the best of our ability, or the punishment of hell awaits us. The parable also proclaims what Lutherans call "gospel": all good comes from God, who provides us far more than we need, God's grace given in abundance for our use.

Saturday - Hymn of the Day

A hymn appropriate for the day is "Lord of light" (ELW 688). This hymn includes the contemporary use of the word "talent" to refer both to the parable and to human abilities. The hymn lists various examples of the talents we have been given that we are to use in God's service. Howard E. Lewis, a Welsh Congregational ordained minister, wrote "Lord of light" in 1915 in order to provide a hymn which stressed our active participation in God's will. In the words of today's gospel, we are to use our talents to further God's purposes.

MISSION Focus

NOVEMBER: MINISTRY ON THE MARGINS

Ministry on the Margins needs non-perishable food like peanut butter, canned soups, ramen, canned fruits, canned vegetables, and snack items. They also need hand warmers, feet warmers, winter hats, winter gloves, diapers, small-sized personal care items like toothbrushes, deodorant, laundry soap, and dish soap. Next time you're out, grab a few extra items to help local families stay stocked and warm through the upcoming winter months. Thank you for your generosity!

"The people rejoiced at the willing response of their leaders, for they had given freely and wholeheartedly to the Lord."
— 1 Chronicles 29:9
